Today we had the pleasure of welcoming Zoolab back into our home, for a Halloween special of creepy crawlies. Our residents always really enjoy these visits, as they get the opportunity to interact with and learn about animals that they may have never seen before. They learn lots of interesting facts and get to hold and touch the animals too.

One of our residents, Graham, was particularly nervous about meeting the animals. However, with some encouragement from staff and the animal handler, he bravely held and interacted with all of the animals and really enjoyed learning about where they came from, and what the animals were like in the wild. He chatted about the animals for the rest of the day and it put him in good spirits. The activity is an opportunity for residents to try something new, engaging and educational, and families can share that experience with them.

Today we had the pleasure of welcoming Amy to Westcroft to do a seated chair dance. The purpose of seated dance is to incorporate a fun and entertaining way of doing exercise that our residents can manage without feeling overwhelmed.

Amy interacts wonderfully with all of the residents and she puts a great energy and vibe into the room, offering comfortable and relaxed approach to exercise,

One of our residents, Phyllis, absolutely loves all things music and dance and takes any opportunity to dance and sing.

Today's dance class with Amy offered Phyllis the perfect opportunity to show off her wonderful dance and singing skills.

Phyllis' daughter joined us for Amy's dance class and Phyllis thoroughly enjoyed quality Mother-daughter time doing something they both enjoy together.

There was lots of dancing, singing, smiles and laughter which created beautiful memories for staff, residents and relatives alike.
